

■

■

■

■

■

How To Speak Like The 1% Elite

5 Communication Skills That Separate Leaders From The Overlooked

Natalie Dawson | Executive Leader & Business Strategist

5 SKILLS TO COMMUNICATE LIKE THE ELITE

01

Stop Speaking to Be Liked

Lead with certainty and conviction

02

Control Your Emotions

Logic over emotion = credibility

03

Speak With Authority

Enter rooms with purpose & weight

04

Master Strategic Questions

Questions determine quality of results

05

Stop Over-Explaining

Confidence lives in brevity

01

SKILL

Stop Speaking to Be Liked — Speak to Lead

Stop Speaking to Be Liked — Speak to Lead

Certainty in your words reflects certainty in your identity.

- Adopt the mindset: 'I am a leader' — even before the title
- Remove qualifiers: Replace 'I think...' with definitive statements
- Instead of 'I think we should try this' → say 'The best path forward is...'
- Your point of view matters — leaders have conviction shaped by experience
- Credibility is built by meaning what you say and saying only what you're sure of

"CEOs have a point of view. They present it with conviction."

02

SKILL

Control Your Emotions — High Emotion, Low Intelligence

Control Your Emotions — High Emotion, Low Intelligence

Leaders make decisions based on logic and data, not feeling.

- Emotional outbursts instantly erode others' trust and confidence in you
- Effective leaders remove emotion and make logical decisions quickly
- Visualize yourself as a blade of grass — flexible, not rigid like a toothpick
- Let emotional pressure pass through you, then respond calmly and clearly
- People without emotional control rarely build lasting success around them

"Never let your emotions override your message."

03

SKILL

Speak With Authority — Enter Rooms With Purpose

Speak With Authority — Enter Rooms With Purpose

Great leaders don't speak more — they speak with weight.

- Ask yourself before every meeting: 'What is my target in this room?'
- If you have nothing to contribute, leave — leaders protect their time
- Authority comes from clarity of purpose, not volume of words
- Most people show up without knowing why — that invisibility is costly
- When you know why you're there, your communication carries natural weight

"Leaders know where their time is best spent and prioritize accordingly."

04

SKILL

Become a Question Master

Become a Question Master

You don't need all the answers — you need the right questions.

AVERAGE COMMUNICATOR	ELITE COMMUNICATOR
What do you think?	What data supports this decision?
How's it going?	What's the biggest challenge right now?
Can we fix this?	What would ensure this never happens again?

"The quality of your questions determines the quality of your results." — Natalie Dawson

05

SKILL

Stop Over-Explaining — Confidence Lives in Brevity

Stop Over-Explaining — Confidence Lives in Brevity

When you know what to say — say it. Then stop.

- Over-explaining signals uncertainty and erodes your presence
- Confident leaders state their message clearly and don't repeat themselves
- Think of communication like an airplane — land the message, don't circle
- Volume of your voice matters too: project clearly, don't whisper or trail off
- Fix weak habits in the moment: shoulders back, voice projected, words clear

"Say it with grace. Say it with directness. Be firm."

THINKING LIKE THE TOP 1%

The mindset shifts that elite communicators internalize every day

Identity First

They say 'I am a leader' before the world agrees.

Logic Over Emotion

They decide with data, not feelings — especially under pressure.

Purposeful Presence

Every meeting has a target. They never drift through rooms.

Question Everything

They solve complex problems by asking smarter questions.

Less is More

They trust that clarity is more powerful than volume.

Self-Awareness

They notice when they whisper, fidget, or over-explain — and fix it.

KEY TAKEAWAYS

1

Your words must match your ambition — communicate with the certainty of who you're becoming.

2

Emotional control is a leadership superpower — logic builds trust, emotion destroys it.

3

Authority is earned through purposeful presence, not loudness.

4

Strategic questions make you a better problem-solver than any volume of answers.

5

Brevity and directness are confidence — over-explanation is fear in disguise.

6

Master these 5 skills and you will communicate better than 99% of people. — Natalie Dawson

"If you master these five skills, I guarantee you will communicate
better than 99% of people."

— Natalie Dawson

Start practicing today. Your future communication is a choice you make right now.

Speak to Lead

Control Emotion

Project Authority

Ask Better Qs

Be Brief